

CREATE AN INVITATION TO A PARTY

Follow the instructions to create a special party invitation. Don't forget to decorate it as well!

Illustrator Joan Hassall won the competition to design the official invitation to the 1953 Coronation. She also created a special personal invitation for a young Prince Charles.

Every detail of this invitation is painted very carefully with beautiful bright colours and even gold.

It also includes the Royal Arms and National Emblems (symbols of the countries of the United Kingdom).

Do you know what flowers symbolize England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland?

Try to match the flower from this invitation with the country.

Rose	Ireland
Daffodil	Wales
Thistle	England
Shamrock	Scotland

When you design your invitation think about:

1. What colours you are going to use?
2. What patterns, symbols you are going to include?
3. Maybe you want to add something that symbolises you or your family.
4. Who would you like to invite to your party?
5. Personalise your invitation by thinking about what makes the person special or why they are important to you.
